

Have you ever tried a Foot Bath like this?

You'll never feel the same about Foot Baths!

Introduction

Imagine a health therapy that doesn't require pills, drugs, or pain! Imagine a therapy that uses energy and water to increase the natural healing energy in the body without painful side effects!

You can get all of this with NRG!

Sometimes we don't recover fully from our ailments and injuries because our bodies don't have enough energy to heal themselves. Environmental stresses like food processing, preservatives, toxins, chemicals, pollution, synthetics, and radiation surround us, yet no matter how many supplements we take or good food we eat, it never seems to be enough.

What is NRG?

The NRG is a foot bath system that utilizes a mechanical system to enhance the bio-electric field of the body using the fluid systems as its medium for conductivity.

It is the latest in personal care technologies developed by researchers and scientists as a therapeutic aid for increased vitality and well being.

Supplementation of vitamins and minerals might be necessary. Consult your healthcare professional.

How Does It Work?

It is believed that the body vibrates at a certain energy level and is electric by nature. That can be shown in today's diagnostic tools that modern medicine uses to monitor many conditions associated with the mind and body. The EKG, which is used to monitor and analyze the heart and the EEG that does the same for the brain perform some common bioelectric measurements. The science of this bio-electricity in the human body and its presence in all living things can be measured. It's measured in millivolts and ranges from one to a few hundred millivolts. Some sea creatures have an incredible ability to produce bioelectricity. The electric eel can effectively produce up to 1,000 volts with a current up to one ampere. As one can see, it's very difficult to compare our bodies' use of electricity as compared to appliances and what we use for our lights. The electricity we use in our homes is believed to be the flow of electrons, but bioelectricity is said to be the flow of ions. Let's take a look at water and its ability to contain a lot of electricity. When it has a high electrical charge, it is said, to be "ionized." The reverse is also true - lack of this electrical charge is said to be, "depleted." The difference between the states of the water is currently viewed as negative (ionized) and positive (depleted). If the water is balanced and there's no energy either way, it would not be considered to be ionized or depleted - neutral. The body is a big warehouse storing energy like a battery and all the body is dependent on the bio-electric energy flowing through it via the fluid systems (plasma, lymphatic, cerebral-spinal fluids, etc.). Our overall health is influenced directly by how those very important fluid systems are working. Consequently, the bioelectrical effects originating in living active cells are closely associated with our energy levels.

Why Use the NRG Works to Correct Bio-Energy Levels?

Currently, the NRG Works foot bath is an important method for creating a bioelectrical charge that is both safe and compatible with living matter.

Water is the obvious medium used. Why? Because the human body is 70-80% water. A cell is 70% water. DNA is 70% water. There is a direct connection between the water in our body and how the body's energy levels are defined.

Water is an active substance, so when water comes into contact with something, the bio-electric frequency of what it contacts is integrated into its own electrical frequency structure and thus becomes its signature. When you immerse a body mass into water, the frequency is instantly added to water as a "memory." The water actually interacts with a compound electric current and a compatible electromagnetic field structure to produce the much needed bioelectric charge.

With the NRG Works the water sets up a negatively enhanced field using the water and your body to complete the conductive cycle. Now back to the basics - opposites attract. The water and your body via your fluid systems become negatively charged.

The diseased condition of the body is associated with positively charged ions. All the bad "stuff" that promotes disease in the body (bacteria, infections, viruses, and parasites) are positively charged. Now by going back to some basic physics - opposites attract.

Now we have negatively charged footbath water and with you being part of the conductive cycle, your body and its fluid systems now make an unwelcome environment for all that bad "stuff" that needs a positively charged environment in which to survive and thrive.

Left now for the fluid systems to do their work (especially the lymphatic system) to carry living and dead bacteria, etc., out through the dermal layers of the skin and into the foot bath water toward the NRG water module (see product specifications).

How Do You Use The NRG Works?

The NRG Works runs on house current and converts to 24 volt DC. Place the module in a foot tub or full bath of plain tap water. Turn the timer to desired time with your feet in the water, (maximum time for adults 40 minutes; 10 to 30 minutes for children) See Rules For Use. Just relax and enjoy yourself!

There are those who feel their bodies are being energized!

All you need is just 20 to 40 minutes every other day, a container of water, and access to a power outlet.

The NRG Works is an extremely incredible machine that truly works! The reason I know it works is because I was very ill several years ago from chemical exposure. Any treatment I tried, whether chelation therapy, supplements, even plain old vitamin C, I would become deathly ill. My liver and kidneys just couldn't handle anymore toxins that were being pushed out into my system by the normal cleansing process. I had to be very careful about everything I put in my body. I knew I needed to cleanse my body to remove all of the toxins, but I couldn't cleanse through the normal route, which was through the liver and kidneys. I finally found this footbath. I felt tremendous results within an hour after taking my first foot bath. I felt so energetic and alive I thought, "I'm never going to be sick again!" I continued the foot baths every other day for 1 ½ years. I felt that the foot bath LITERALLY saved my life!! I now can take many of the products that made me deathly ill before. Before I started feeling symptoms from the chemical exposure I was a professional vocal soloist, and performed frequently in the Portland , Oregon area as well as in Europe . When I got sick my body was so compromised that I couldn't sing anymore, and because singing was my first passion it was very devastating. Now that I have my health back and continuing to become stronger and stronger everyday, I am finally able to begin my singing career again. Between the foot baths every other day, along with a supplemental program, and proper diet I am a new man and enjoying a level of health I haven't seen in years.
